1. POLICY STATEMENT:

____ is committed to providing a safe, healthy and protective workplace environment for its employees. We are all responsible for and accountable to each other for safety. Safety is an integral part of everything we do every day, and is not "someone else's" job. One of leadership's fundamental responsibilities is to lead safety efforts in a sustainable and consistent way by establishing goals, accountability, and the resources necessary to keep the workplace safe. _____ recognizes that this can only be accomplished if all employees work together and recognize personal value in striving for safety excellence.

2. PURPOSE:

The purpose of this policy is to establish a proactive program that works toward a hazard-free environment for employees through policies, procedures, education, and injury and illness prevention measures.

3. SCOPE:

This policy applies to all _____ and its wholly owned or controlled subsidiaries.

4. PROCEDURE:

a. Minimize the risk of job-related occupational injuries and illnesses, death, and property loss by the use of recognized loss prevention and control techniques and practices while promoting the development of new and innovative approaches to risk reduction.

b. Establish written performance/accountability standards and objectives to reduce injuries and illnesses of employees.

c. Provide adequate safety and health training and education for managers, supervisors, and employees.

d. Establish risk management, safety and health committees consisting of representatives from all levels and functional areas of the organization.

e. Promote innovative work practices and improvement strategies that ensure the preservation of property and safety of employees.

f. Establish a procedure for conducting periodic risk management, safety and health inspections so that potential hazards are detected and corrected or controlled in a timely manner.

g. Comply with applicable local, state and federal laws, standards, rules, regulations and guidelines regarding employee safety and health and property preservation.

h. Designate individuals to serve as risk managers, safety officers and security officers to assist the organization in directing its employee safety and loss prevention programs.

i. Promote effective timely investigation of employee injuries, illnesses, and near miss incidents; trend injury data using common cause analysis to identify corrective action which will prevent recurrence.

j. Manage workers' compensation claims to ensure prompt return to work of injured employees when possible.

k. All _____ employees, contractors and agency staff are expected to perform work duties in compliance with _____ policies and procedures. _____, through training and education, ensures personnel competency regarding safety procedures and practices.

l. While all _____ employees are expected to perform work duties in compliance with _____ written safety policies and procedures, it is not likely possible to draft a written safety policy to cover every conceivable work scenario and work duty. Therefore, this policy establishes that additional verbal and written instructions from supervisors or managers regarding proper procedures and safety issues also constitute safety protocols and are followed to avoid violation of this policy.

m. It is critical that all _____ employees, contractors and agency staff understand this policy and all individual safety policies and procedures, and that they seek clarification or further explanation from the appropriate supervisor or manager if they do not understand.

n. When safety practices are not followed, managers responsible for employees, contractors or agency personnel confirm the individual has received relevant safety training. When management determines that re-education is warranted, the individual is re-educated to ensure future safety competency. The re-education is documented in the individual's personnel files.

o. When Leaders verify the employee, contractor, or agency personnel are appropriately trained on practices and procedures, but have not followed them, the individual is subject to discipline up to and including immediate termination of employment.

p. When an employee's violation of safety rules, policies and procedures could have significantly compromised safety of co-workers, other staff and/or visitors, the employee is subject to discipline up to and including immediate termination of employment. The appropriate level of discipline is decided in consultation with the HR Department. If it is determined the employee's manager did not enforce the safety rules, policies and procedures; he/she is subject to disciplinary action also.

q. Contractors and agency personnel are subject to the same expectations as employees as outlined in this policy. Violations of this policy by contractors and agency personnel result in termination of the relationship and/or removal from _____.

r. _____ safety policies or rules require that all employees use all proper guards and protections provided to and made available to employees.

s. Violation of workplace safety rules, policies and regulations negatively affects entitlement to workers' compensation benefits in some circumstances.

t. Responsibilities of all employees:

   (1) Participate in safety training or safety re-training and education as directed.

   (2) Be aware of and actively participate in the shared responsibility for promotion of a culture of safety within _____.

   (3) Comply with the requirements of the established safety practices, policies and rules at all times, whether written or a result of verbal instructions from managers.

   (4) Identify safety issues, potential safety issues or incidents employed with the performance of job duties and report these issues to their manager.

   (5) Report any physical or mental restrictions which interfere with the employee's ability to safely perform the essential functions of the job to his/her direct manager.

u. Responsibilities of _____ leadership:

   (1) Require Employee Safety to work with unit educators, managers and administrators to ensure proper training, resources and tools are available to staff to perform their duties safely.

(2) Leaders monitor all staff ensuring safety protocols are followed at all applicable times and immediately address any issues that arise.

(3) Regular audits of the workplace are conducted to assess safety program effectiveness and deficiencies are promptly addressed.
